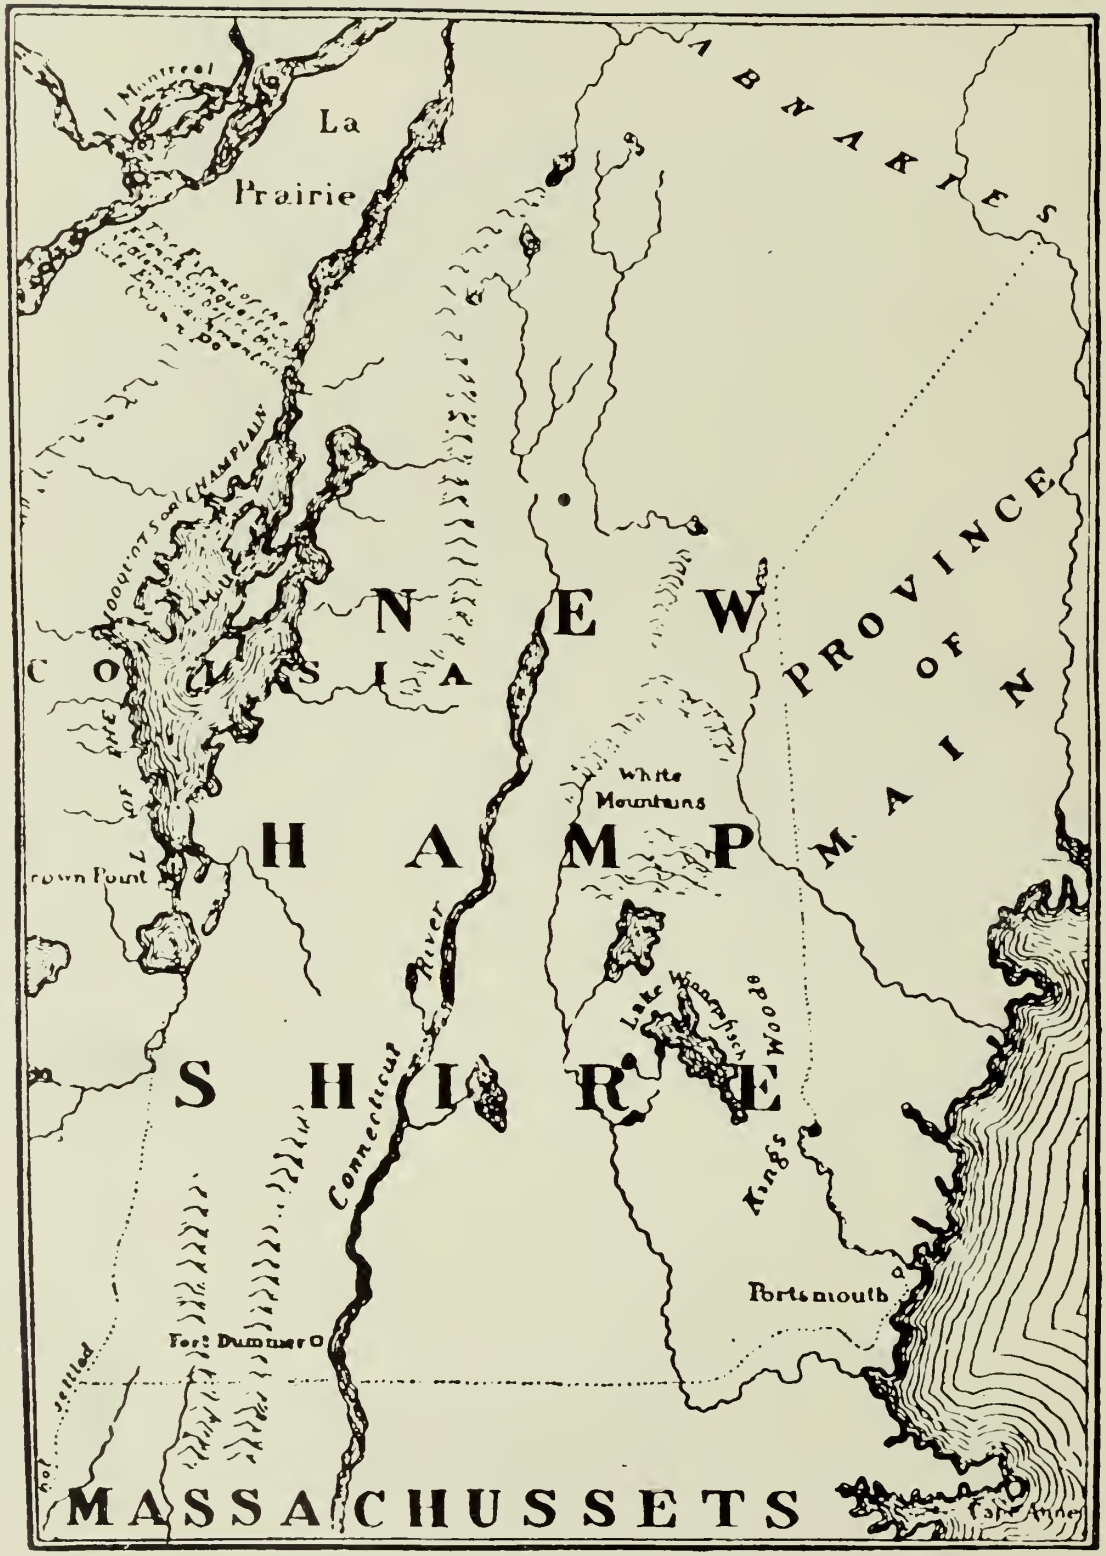
THE HISTORY OF FORT DUMMER

It is the policy of the MILESTONE to print in each edition a section related in some way to the Colonial history of the School or to its founder. This year the previous procedure of using a series of unrelated articles has been replaced by devoting the section contained in the following six pages to but one subject, The History of Fort Dummer. We are indebted to Mr. Calvin Eldred both for the article and for the photostats from which our plates are made. The suggestion of this interesting subject and the tedious work in collecting the material are entirely Mr. Eldred's own. During the past several years his interest in Colonial history and in the School has resulted in his giving us many invaluable maps, photostats, and documents. Jeremiah Dummer's bookplate, reproduced inside the front cover of this volume, is another of Mr. Eldred's unusual gifts.



Fort Dummer, built in 1724 at the place now called Brattleboro, Vermont, was the first settlement above Northfield on the Connecticut River. From a map published in 1755.

Fort Dummer

By arrangement between Massachusetts and Connecticut various parcels of land were given to Connecticut in exchange for lands of which she had been deprived by a boundary rectification between the two colonies. One of these sections of Equivalent Lands, as they were called, was an area of about 44,000 acres on the west bank of the Connecticut River within the now existing towns of Vernon, Brattleboro, Dummerston and Putney. The lands were sold at Hartford in 1716 and this section came into the ownership of four men, William Dummer, acting Governor of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, William Brattle of Cambridge, and Anthony Stoddard and John White of Boston.

Scarcely had the acting Governor and his associates come into possession of this valuable land when occurred Dummer's War, 1722-1726. This was really but a fresh outbreak of hostilities which had never been quelled. Though there was peace between England and France, the Northern Indians began anew their raids threatening the plantations and towns of the Connecticut valley. Colonel John Stoddard of Northampton wrote to the Lieut. Governor urging protection for this area. On December 27, 1723, the General Court of the Province of Massachusetts Bay resolved:

> "That it will be of great service to all the western frontiers, both in this and the neighboring government of Connecticut, to build a Block House above Northfield in the most convenient place on the land called Equivalent Land, and to post in it forty able men, English and Western Indians, to be employed in scouting at a good distance up the Connecticut River, West River, Otter Creek and sometimes eastwardly above Monadnock for the discovery of the enemy coming towards any of the frontier towns."

The duty of carrying this order into effect was intrusted to Colonel Stoddard because of his acquaintance with the needs of the northwestern frontier. He issued the following commission to Lieut. Timothy Dwight, then of Captain Kellogg's company of Northfield:

> In His Majesty's Name you are hereby Authorized, employed, & required to Impress Horses, Utensils, & any other thing necessary to enable you to prosecute the building of the Block House above N^th^field.
> Dated at N^th^ Hampton, this thirty-first day of Jan^y^ in the tenth year of His Majesty's Reign, Annoq^r^ Dom^ni^, 1723-4.
>
> JOHN STODDARD Pac^t^ Just^us^

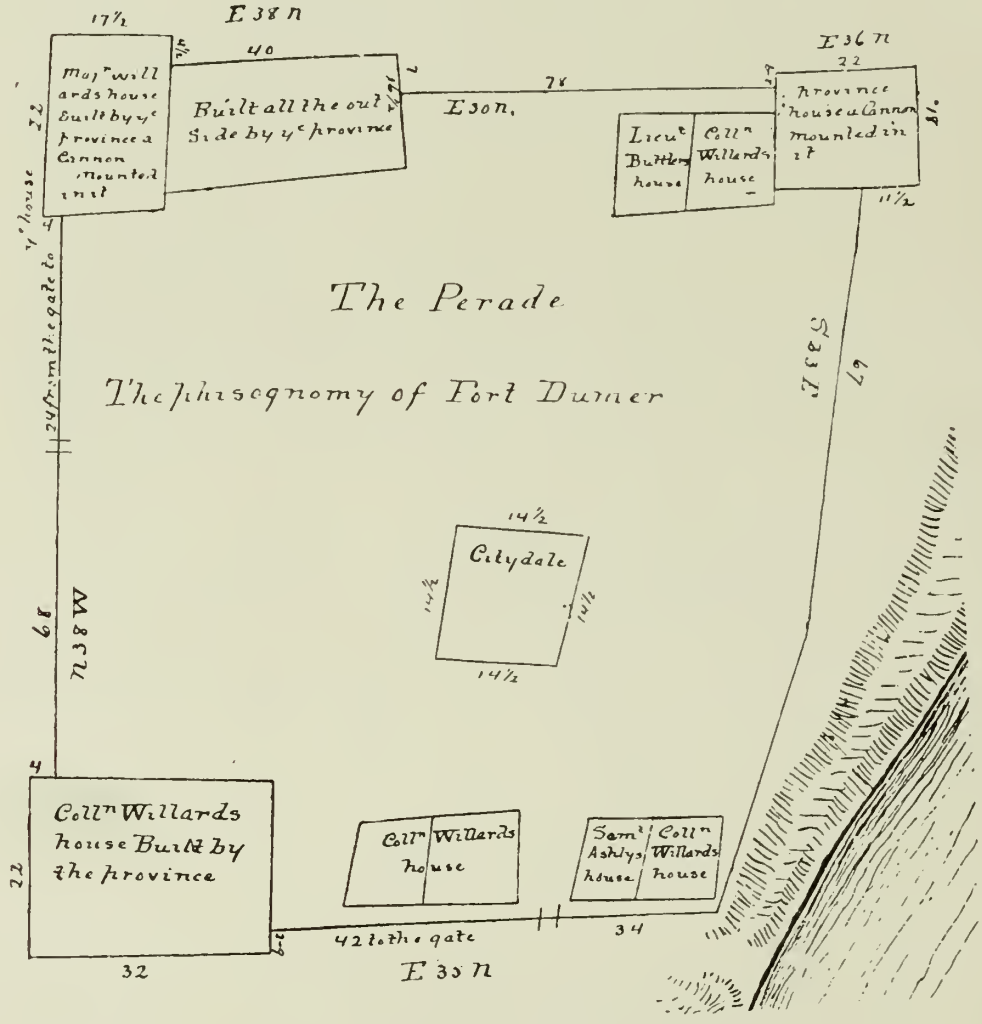
Colonel Stoddard on February 3, 1724, wrote to Lieut. Governor Dummer:

> "I have Committed the oversight of the Work about the Block House to Lieut^nt^ Dwight, & given him Instructions about the building according to the Projection I sent your Honor."

On March 16, 1724, Lieut. Governor Dummer wrote to Timothy Dwight, now made Captain:

> "I was well informed of your Capacitye for the Service you are in or I should not have placed you there, & I doubt not your Industry & fidelity. In a Short time you shall have the necessary instructions for your Government therein."



A plan of Fort Dummer, made in 1749 when its garrison under Colonel Josiah Willard numbered twenty-eight officers and men. The figures at the sides are the dimensions in feet.

The construction of the fort was carried forward rapidly by Captain Dwight with a working force of four carpenters and twelve soldiers. It was built of pine timbers hewed square, laid up 12 to 14 feet high, and cross locked at the corners. In shape it was an oblong with a corner cut off forming a short side toward the river. Its dimensions were about 140 by 160 feet. About the interior houses were built facing inwardly, and with their roofs running up to near the top of the walls. The inner walls of the houses were built like the walls of the fort, and the doors and windows could be barricaded in case the enemy came within the fort. There was an underground passage from the short side to the river. The fort was first furnished with four small swivel guns to which was afterwards added the "great cannon" used as a signal of danger to the neighborhood. It was apparently Colonel Stoddard's design, although correspondence refers to a plan sent by the Lieutenant Governor which was not followed. In a letter to William Dummer by Colonel Stoddard is this postscript:

> "I forgat to take notice of your thought of setting Stockadoes round the fort to keep the Enemy at a distance. I don't well apprehend the benefit of it, for we Intend the fort shall be so built that the Souldiers shall be as safe if the Enemy were in the Parade, as if they were without the fort."

The fort was completed by spring 1724 and named Fort Dummer in honor of the Lieutenant Governor. The first garrison consisted of Capt. Timothy Dwight, Lieut. Elisha Searl, Sergt. John McRanney, Sergt. John Burke, Sergt. Robert Cooper, and 36 privates together with 14 Maqua and Hudson River Indians under Sachems Hendrick and Ampaumet. It was hoped to utilize the Indians as scouts and warriors against the Northern Indians. On June 24, 1724, Lieut. Governor Dummer wrote to Captain Dwight:

> "This to lett you know that I very well approve of your bringing your Family to the Block-house & you may depend on my Friendship to you as long as you Serve the Government faithfully as I have not the least doubt but you allways will."

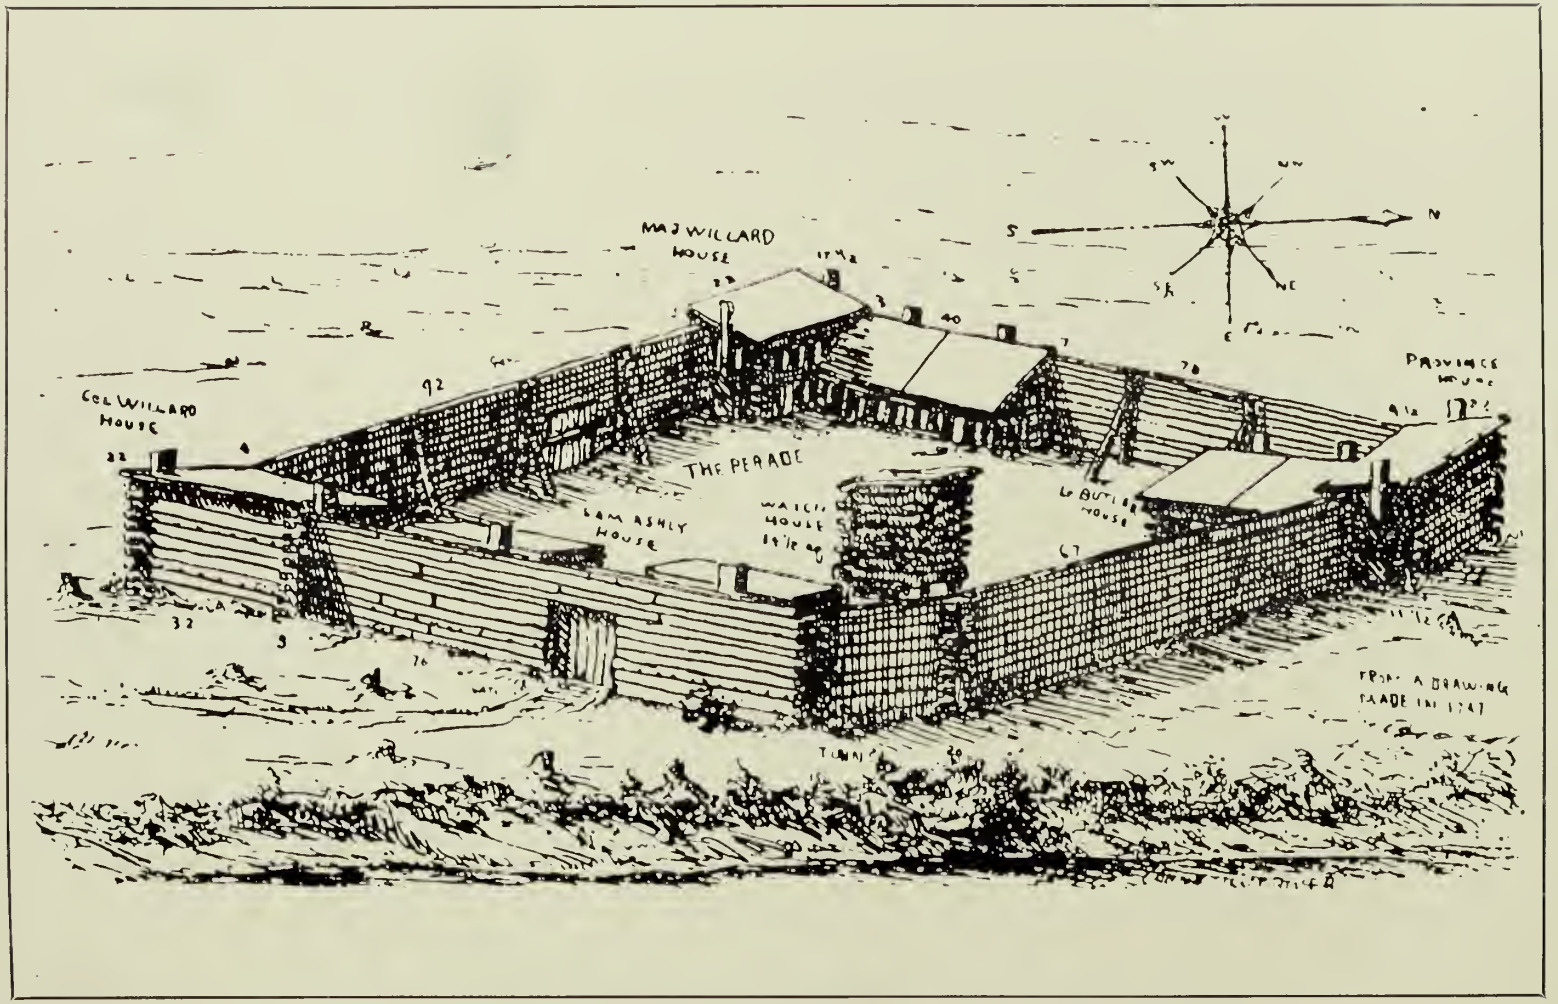
In June of 1724 Rev. Daniel Dwight was made chaplain. He was a younger brother of Timothy, and besides his duties as chaplain, he was "to instruct the Indian natives residing thereabouts in the true Christian religion."

On October 11, 1724, the fort was attacked by an estimated force of 70 Indians. They succeeded in killing four or five of the defenders, but were repulsed with some loss. Other killings occurred in the neighborhood during the following year, but the fort was not attacked again during this war. On December 28, 1725, Lieut. Governor Dummer wrote to Captain Dwight:

> "Having Concluded a Peace with the Indian Delegates in behalf of the Western as well as the Eastern Tribes that have been engaged in y^e^ late War,
>
> "You are hereby Order'd forthwith to Reduce the Garrison at Fort Dummer to a Corporal & fifteen Centinels besides yourself (who are to have Sergeants Pay henceforward)."

This peace treaty was not actually ratified by the Western Indians until 1727.

Timothy Dwight, the father of one of the early presidents of Yale University, was born at Fort Dummer on May 27, 1726.



Fort Dummer, as it appeared from the Connecticut River, which it commanded. It was furnished with four small swivel guns, and a cannon, used as a signal of danger to the neighborhood.

Joseph Kellogg was taken prisoner by the Indians at Deerfield in 1704 at the age of 12 years and sent to Canada. While there he learned the peltry trade, and upon his return asked for the establishment of a trading post on the Connecticut River. Fort Dummer was selected for that purpose and he became both Captain and Truckmaster there in 1728. A truck house was built outside the fort and an extensive trading post established for traffic with the Northern Indians. Captain Dwight returned to Northampton and became judge of probate and land surveyor.

In 1730 Rev. Ebenezer Hinsdale became chaplain. He was the son of Lieut. Mahumen Hinsdale, the first born child at Deerfield. His wife Abagail was the daughter of Rev. John Williams of Deerfield.

In October 1737 a friendly conference was held at Fort Dummer between the Caghnawagah Indians and Commissioners appointed by Massachusetts. They met to renew a treaty made some years before. Speeches were made, blankets and wampum were exchanged, healths were drunk and King George was toasted. The meeting lasted for two days and broke up in amity and good nature.

The death of Charles VI of Germany in 1740 started a new quarrel between France and England over the succession to his throne. Colonel Josiah Willard of Winchester was placed in command of Fort Dummer in 1740, and the fort materially strengthened in anticipation of a fresh outbreak of the French and Northern Indians. A stockade of sharpened pickets 20 feet high was built around the fort enclosing about four acres, with sentry boxes five feet higher at the corners. At this time were constructed three very comfortable two-story buildings called province houses and located at three corners of the fort.

In 1744 the long expected war broke out, trading was discontinued at Fort Dummer, and the Indian Commissioners left. Considerable fighting occurred in the neighborhood, and the danger was so great that many settlers sought shelter at the fort, and some houses were built within the stockade. This war was ended by the peace of Aix-la-Chappelle on October 18, 1748, proclaimed in this country in January 1749. The garrison of the fort was again reduced to ten or fifteen men. Indian war parties, however, continued to hover around the frontiers bringing death or captivity to many settlers until the capture of Ticonderoga and Crown Point in 1759, and the conquest of Canada in 1760.

The new line between the provinces fixed in 1741 left the fort in New Hampshire, but since it was more necessary to Massachusetts Bay it continued to be maintained by that province. In 1749 when it was intended to be turned over to New Hampshire a plan was made giving "The phisognomy of Fort Dumer." It still continued in Massachusetts, and in the charter of Brattleboro by Governor Benning Wentworth on December 26, 1753 "His Majesty's Fort Dummer and a Tract of Land fifty rods round it" were reserved. With the end of hostilities in 1760 Fort Dummer ceased to be a military post.

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

We have attempted in this MILESTONE of 1933 to make the yearbook even more truly a book by the students and representative of the students. In order to carry out this plan we are publishing on the title and section pages of the MILESTONE drawings done by students. Heretofore the Board has adhered to the use of sketches done by recognized artists for these pages.

We have tried to present a greater number of pictures in place of written material in hopes that these photographs will go further in presenting a more permanent record of the year 1932-1933.

The Football Season

The 1932 Governor Dummer football team had a disastrous history regarding the number of victories, but it was good team playing a difficult schedule, rather than a poor team playing inferior football. Richard Segler, the captain, played at fullback, and was an extremely fine leader and an equally good player. The halfbacks were Rogers and Ward. Rogers was a good, consistent ground gainer while Ward was an excellent blocker and a good defensive back. Disbro at quarterback played a good game and seldom failed to call for the right play at the right time. James Smith, the center, was a smart defensive player and in addition, his passes to the backfield were very accurate. Ingersoll and Bickford filled the guard positions, both of them doing excellent work as interferers and as defensive players as well. Wood and Reiche, veterans from the 1931 team, played steady but unspectacular games at the tackle berths. The two ends were Frank and Shaw, both capable players, who were exceptional pass receivers. Sumner and Gill were two outstanding reserve backs whose work was noteworthy all season. Sumner was a fine ball carrier, and Gill was a drop-kicker of considerable merit.

The first game was with Tabor at Marion on the 8th of October. This game was a real struggle all the way and both teams were deadlocked at the final gun, 0-0. Captain Segler, James Smith, Ingersoll, and Sumner played exceptionally well in this game. The following week the Governors lost to Browne and Nichols at South Byfield by a 12-0 score. In this contest the Governors looked very slow and ragged; however, Frank, Reiche, and Disbro turned in good performances.

On the 21st of October the Governors traveled to South Braintree, where they were trounced by a fast, powerful Thayer Academy eleven, 18-0. Shaw, Ward, and Disbro played well, but the Thayer line out-charged the Governors.

The following Saturday, the 29th of October, the Amherst Freshman team came to South Byfield and won a hard fought game, 18-6. The first half was even, but the Amherst men made two touchdowns in the second. Frank received several long passes from Rogers, scoring on one.

On the 5th of November the Governors met Deerfield Academy at Deerfield. It was a hard, fast game the first half, and at one time the Governors were leading, 14-6, but the final score was 38-14 in Deerfield's favor. Captain Segler, Gill, and Shaw played their best game of the year at Deerfield.

The last game of the season was played at Providence with Moses Brown on the 19th of November. The Quakers had a fine team, but the Governors played them to a standstill until the fourth period when Moses Brown went out in front and won, 20-6. Badger, Beola, Sumner, and Wood played fine football.

With Shaw, Frank, Bickford, Badger, Beola, Sommer and Captain Segler returning, the 1933 season should be a good one for Governor Dummer.

The Hockey Season

For the second season the Governor Dummer Academy hockey team, which had perhaps the possibilities of an undefeated season, was greatly hindered by adverse weather conditions. With only about half a dozen practice sessions, there was practically no opportunity to develop team-play.

The season opened with Harvard Junior Varsity on January 18th. The Harvard team-play, very strong both offensively and defensively, beat the Governors, 4-1, but Mr. Eames believed that a team with so little practice which could hold a strong Harvard team to such a low score had great possibilities. The defensive playing of Captain McIntire, Sumner, and Hosmer was very impressive. The second game was lost to Brooks by a score of 3-2. The playing of the Governor Dummer team was ragged and very erratic because of lack of practice.

On February 6th the team scored its first victory by defeating Browne and Nichols, 4-1, in the only home game of the season. Three goals were credited to Rogers and one to McIntire. This was the first in the series of three victories. The second occurred when the team encountered Belmont Hill. This was a very fast, well-played game. The team showed much progress along the lines of developed team-play. The final score was 3-2, with McIntire scoring twice and Eldred once. The last victory was over Roxbury Latin on February 13th at the Exeter rink. The Governors were outstandingly the stronger team. Captain McIntire scored 3, Rogers 1, and Eldred 1 for a final score of 5-1.

The final game of the season was with Deerfield Academy on February 17th in the Boston Arena. The game ended in a 1-1 tie. In the first period both teams were fairly evenly matched and neither was able to score. The second period was completed exactly as the first. In the third period both teams were very aggressive and exhibited some fine hockey. The teams went into the overtime period with the Governors carrying the play to the Deerfield net, resulting in a score in 37 seconds. However, in the next 20 seconds Deerfield scored. The period was played out with no further scoring, and the teams finished in a deadlock.

After the first two games, team-play did develop to a certain extent, but not enough to be of a real advantage. Most of the scoring was accomplished through individual sallies. Captain McIntire, playing his second year for the Governors, exhibited fine qualities as a leader and player. He was a regular defense man, but at times played in the forward line. Rogers was a very effective player because of his fast skating and clever stick handling. Eldred completed his third year of hockey with fine, steady play. Ward successfully filled the right wing position. Through illness Sumner, an excellent defense man, was replaced by Rutherford, who played a fine game. Flint was one of the best substitutes in the forward line, and Hosmer, second string goalie last year, replaced Smith in the nets. He showed spectacular form during the entire season. Smith, although handicapped by illness, occasionally played, displaying his steady game of previous seasons.

The Basketball Season

The 1933 basketball team was the best the Academy has had for the past three years. It won the first three games of the season, dropping the fourth to Exeter in a close match. Only two more games were lost, both of which were very close. A highly successful campaign was closed with ten wins and only three losses.

Frank, captain and center, was the high scorer of the season. His great ability as a leader made him an important factor in the team's success. Kerr was the fastest man on the squad, and his shots from the floor often proved to be the deciding points in close contests. Because of his height Badger was an extremely valuable man in recovering rebound shots. Very fine offensive pass-work and an unusual ability to cover his opponent made Bickford an outstanding player. Although Shaw played basketball for the first time, he proved to be one of the defensive mainstays of the team and developed into an excellent guard. The substitutes, Gill, Hessian, Reiche, Justin Smith, Stronach, and Whiting aided in the team's success, by furnishing good opposition in practice and valuable relief in games.

The Governors started the season by defeating Melrose High School in a fairly close game. The second game of the season, that with St. John's High, proved to be an overwhelming victory, and it was in this game that Captain Frank and Kerr first showed the deceptive and speedy passing which marked their later play.

Exeter was the first team to beat the Governors, and had it not been for Bickford's fine defensive playing the score would probably have been larger than 21-13. The team soon recovered from the first defeat however, and in the next game Lawrence Academy was beaten by the decisive score of 51-30, the Governors having jumped to an early lead of 29-2. The team defeated Rindge Tech with difficulty in the next game, but Milton was decisively downed a few days later.

The M. I. T. Freshmen were beaten by a large score. Andover, for the first time in several years, was defeated by the Governors and by the decisive score of 44-23. The next game, that with the Tufts Jayvees, was a loss by but two points, 31-29. Shaw put the team up with Tufts at the end of the third period, and the final period was a series of ups and downs, Tufts finally emerging with the necessary margin. Huntington was beaten in a return game in which the substitutes showed their worth by playing the first and fourth periods on a practically even footing with the opponent's first team. Closing with Deerfield the Governors led in the first half but lost the advantage, and the game, 53-42. Captain Frank finished a stellar season spectacularly, and Badger played probably his most courageous game.

The team was made up entirely of players who had never worked together; in fact, at least one of them had not played at all before. This makes Mr. Reagan's task even more apparent, and a great deal of the credit goes to him for forming such an unusual team from men so unaccustomed to one another's type of play.

The Wrestling Season

This year's wrestling team was the most outstanding since the sport was introduced at Governor Dummer three years ago. The team had as a foundation seven letter men of last year's team: Mario Fernandez, Seth Martin, Harry Churchill, José Beola, Walter Comfort, Nathaniel Sanders, and William Williamson, who combined with very good new material, brought in two victories and many excellent showings in other meets, under the skillful guidance of Mr. Brodhead.

On Saturday, January 21st, the team opened the season by defeating the Browne and Nichols team at Cambridge. Falls won by Sanders, Comfort, and Churchill accounted for fifteen points, which added to three points from Dietz's time advantage gained an 18-13 victory. Captain Woodman of the Browne and Nichols team won a time decision over Captain Beola in the 155 lb. class, and a fall over Martin in the 145 lb. class. Mr. Brodhead and the team were encouraged to win the opening meet from a team which had defeated them in the two previous years.

Four days later the team met Exeter. Though the only man to score was Fernandez, who earned a draw in the 125 lb. class, the other matches were very closely contested. This proved to the team that they still lacked the aggressiveness common to more experienced wrestlers.

On January 28th Governor Dummer easily defeated Marblehead High School, winning all but two bouts.

Milton easily won over the wrestlers on February 8th at Milton. Comfort was the only man to score, winning 1½ points in a draw. The absence of Beola and one or two other men who were on the sick list handicapped the team noticeably.

February 15th the team again lost to Exeter. Fernandez repeated his performance of the earlier meet by gaining a draw, thereby accounting for our only points. Exeter's greater choice of material and greater wrestling ability seemed to be too much for the Governors.

In the meet with the Harvard Freshmen Second team on February 23rd, the grapplers were completely shut out for the only time this year. The greater strength and experience of the older opponents were far too much for the team. Nevertheless, Mr. Brodhead was quite satisfied with the fine attitude and sportsmanship which the team displayed while facing absolute defeat.

At Andover, two days later, the Governors made a much better showing, scoring thirteen points against the Andover Seconds. White was awarded the unlimited class by default; Williamson won by a fall in the 175 lb. class, and Comfort gained a time decision in the 165 lb. class. In the return match, March 8th, the Governors, though improved, again lost; Watson winning the only fall.

The Fencing Season

Mr. Allen
Coach

Fencing again drew forth a large number of enthusiasts this winter, with Mr. Allen as coach. Many of last season's fencers, including the winner and runner-up, reappeared, and a large group of beginners reported. The first few days were spent with the more experienced boys assisting Mr. Allen in instructing the newcomers in the basic fundamentals, such as stance, grip, parries and lunges.

In a few days a round robin tournament was started by which the skill and ability of all was determined. The names were arranged as to approximate ability in ladder form, as allotted by Mr. Allen. The privilege of challenging any two entries above was given to all contestants. During the tournament the names were continually shifting up and down the ladder, but finally ended with Harmon Hall, last year's winner, as first man, and John Hinchman as second.

From this standing another contest was started. The first six were made captains of teams made up of two or three of the other members. These teams fenced among themselves, and were officially conducted by Mr. Allen as referee and by two judges. This gave everyone the practice of fencing according to match rules. In this tournament the beginners and less practiced members had more of an opportunity to demonstrate what they had accomplished.

On March 1st a team made up of Hall, Hinchman and Poisson, ranged according to ability, fenced the more experienced and skillful Andover team at Andover. The team was defeated 7-2; Hinchman, showing remarkable ability and preciseness in every way, accounted for the two points. Acting Captain Hall was defeated in two well fought bouts, one with Captain Macomber, 5-4, the other with Snelling, 5-4. Poisson and the three substitutes, King, Smith and Johnson, were defeated.

In the last week, the individual competition matches were begun. Each of the four winners of the round robin held earlier in the year headed a group of four of the squad. The strip winners were Hall, Hinchman, King and Johnson. These four then fenced a series of matches for the finals with the result that Hinchman won, and Hall was runner-up.

The team fenced the Harvard Freshmen on March 11th at Harvard. The Harvard team under the coaching of René Peroy had had a most successful season, and was in its best condition just prior to the Yale meet. The Governor's team with Hall, Hinchman and Smith lost all its bouts, being defeated, 9-0. King, Poisson and Johnson as substitutes also fenced.

The Baseball Season

The 1933 baseball team, at this point, appears to be one of the best that has ever represented Governor Dummer Academy. When the season first opened, chances for a winning team looked pretty slim, because there were just three lettermen from the 1932 varsity team. These men were Beola, catcher; Rogers, outfielder; and Sumner, a second-base man. Last year's second team produced some valuable players who are now regulars on the varsity team. These men are Curry, pitcher; and Fulton and Reynolds, both outfielders. Captain Kerr, shortstop; Gill, pitcher; Shaw, first base; Sommer, third base; Rae, infield; Ingersoll and Ward, both outfielders, were the new boys on the squad and all good ball players.

Due to snow and rain the first two games were cancelled, and practice was held in the Lang Gymnasium. The cancelled games were with Phillips Exeter and Brooks School. The game with Roxbury Latin was played with little practice, and we did very well to hold them to six runs, while we scored five. Kerr starred with three good hits, while Gill struck out thirteen men. The Milton Academy game also had to be cancelled because of rain. We then played the strong Lawrence Academy team, but due to supreme pitching Lawrence defeated us, 8-2. Kerr again lead the batting attack, with Shaw playing a faultless game in the field.

The Y. M. C. A. Conference game started our string of victories which it is hoped will continue until the end of the season. We won this game, 9-0, with Curry pitching well, and Rogers and Kerr batting excellently. Kerr was elected captain after the game, because of his excellent spirit and ability to hit consistently. Rivers School was our next opponent, and we defeated them, 18-4. Shaw and Sommer played well in this game, both at bat and in the field, as did Rogers, who made a home run. Our meeting with Groton School brought out the spirit in the team and also showed that it could come from behind and easily win. Groton was leading when we went to bat in the seventh inning, but timely hitting by Kerr, Sumner, and Reynolds brought the runs needed to win the game, 5-2. Captain Kerr ended this game by making a beautiful catch in a short-left, then running to second, touching the base for a double, and throwing to third for a triple play. The Belmont Hill game again brought out the hitting power in the team and also the fine fielding which it possesses. Gill, with a home run, and Kerr and Sumner with several good hits helped to win the game, 13-11. The game with Andover was postponed because of rain, leaving the team Deerfield Academy as its next opponent.

As the season is still young and many good games are to be played, we should not say too much about the team. If it keeps improving as rapidly as it has so far this season, the coaches, Mr. Eames, Mr. Hearn, and Mr. Reagan, will have an excellent team with which to close the season at Commencement. The untiring effort and labor which they have given the team is largely responsible for its success.

The Track Season

This year the track team started its season on May 6th at the New Hampshire Interscholastics at Durham, New Hampshire. At this time the team seemed stronger than usual in field events, but the runners were not quite up to par. In this meet John Frank won a first place in the javelin throw and a fourth in the discus, while Richard Segler placed fourth in the shot put. Captain Charles Reiche tied for second place in the high jump and came in third in the 120-yard high hurdles. In the running events, Nathaniel Sanders ran well in the half-mile, but was tripped on the first turn and was forced to drop behind. Dunton ran well in the 440-yard dash but was unable to take a place. Trask and Churchill did their best, but because of unusually fast competition were not able to keep up the pace.

The team, although strong in weight events, has no such spectacular runners as were Maxcy and Donovan on last year's team.

The Deerfield meet opened on the morning of Saturday, May 13th, on the Morse Athletic Field. A slight shower had made the track wet and the weight pits slippery so that the footing was more or less precarious. The score of the meet was Deerfield 69⅔, Governors 47⅓. Frank accumulated the largest share of the points for the Governors, taking first places in the shot put, javelin, and discus, with throws of 45′3″, 138′1″, and 108′4¾″, respectively. Captain Reiche and Segler came not far behind, Reiche taking first in the high jump at 5′4″ and second in the 70-yard high hurdles, 120-yard low hurdles, and broad jump; and Segler making a second in the shot, discus, and 100-yard dash, with thirds in the 220-yard dash and the broad jump. Wood took third in the shot put and tied for second in the high jump. Churchill came in for a second in the mile with a spectacular burst of speed at the finish. Sanders ran well in the half-mile and took a third place. Dunton also took thirds in the 440-yard dash and the javelin.

On June 3rd, the Governors will go to Melrose to compete with Melrose High School. Although the meet can not be recorded here because of the early date of publication of the MILESTONE, it is expected that with two weeks more of coaching, Mr. Sager will turn out a creditable organization.

The Golf Season

The ability and the enthusiasm this year of the entire squad have been of a higher calibre than that of preceding years, largely because of the manner of choosing the team by actual competition in match play rather than by selection of the lowest medal scores. This system has kept the spirit of competition much more in the fore this season than in former years. The material improvement in the play is in a great part due to the efforts of Mr. Stone, the coach, in promoting tournaments.

Eldred, the captain of this year's team, is a veteran of two years of play for the Governors. His general consistency and spirit have made him a leader and a fine golfer. Wyman, a leader of last year's team, and Bickford are both very evenly matched players; Bickford playing number one, and Wyman number two. McIntire, who won the Fall Tournament and the cup donated by Mr. Edward Underwood is playing at the third position. Eldred is the fourth man on the team. Ingraham and James Smith are the fifth and the sixth. Throughout the season there has been keen competition for the alternate position, Kelly, Williamson, and Wentworth Smith being the chief contenders.

The schedule for this year has been more difficult than that of last. The first match, with Worcester North High, was won easily on the Ould Newbury Club course, the score being 9-0. The second, with St. Paul's School, was played at the Concord Country Club in New Hampshire; the Governor Dummer team won, 6-0. In the match with Phillips Exeter here, the team met its first hard competition, and was defeated, 9-0. Wyman and Bickford both scored in the low eighties but were beaten. The team as a whole played better than the score indicates.

An unusual match will be played with the members of the Ould Newbury Club on Saturday, May 27th, sixteen men playing on each side.

The possibilities for next year's team are only fair. The number one and two men return, but the rest of the team graduates. However, it is hoped that some of the present squad will improve sufficiently to play creditably on next year's team.

The Tennis Season

Every winter the tennis courts are put into such a state that it usually takes a week or more of the squad's valuable time to prepare the courts so that they may be suitable for playing. This year the group rolled the clay which had been dampened by the spring rains, set up court markers and strengthened the wire fencing.

However, practice was finally started under the supervision of Mr. Murphy, and as usual two divisions were made in the squad. The first team was composed of Hosmer, Underwood and Badger, while the doubles group was made up of Hosmer and Fernandez, White and Vasmer Flint. The remainder of the group was comprised of the more inexperienced players, such as Covey and Dietz.

The first meet of the season was with the Beacon School. Our team was Hosmer as number one man, Underwood number two, and Badger number three; and although only a few days had been spent in practice it won decisively, 4-1. Everybody played well and with success, except the second doubles group made up of two newcomers, White and Vasmer Flint, who were defeated in a closely contested match.

In the second set of matches, played with Haverhill High School on their own courts, the team did not fare so well, being partly handicapped by the asphalt courts on which it was forced to play. The order of single matches was the same as in the Beacon meet, but a new set of doubles players, Underwood and Badger, competed. Our men made a good showing in the early sets but won nothing.

On Friday, May 12th, John Hosmer was elected captain of the team, filling the same place that his brother had held while a student here four years ago.

A return match was played against Haverhill High on our own courts on May 15th. Hosmer was defeated, as were Underwood and Badger, both in singles and doubles. Justin Smith and Fernandez, a new doubles team, also lost. The team played well, but Haverhill was clearly the stronger as evidenced by the result of the former meet with them.

The Archon

The first school paper appeared in 1897 under the title of Dummer News. Since 1913 however it has been called the Archon, a Greek word meaning Leader. The paper has taken many different forms, being sometimes a news sheet and sometimes a booklet. Until this past year the articles were written by a student staff, but during this last year an effort has been made to increase the interest in the Archon. Thus contributors have been substituted for the staff.

In appearance the Archon has been standardized, in the last few years, to a sixteen page magazine, eight by ten and one-half inches in size. On the cover is a reproduction of the portrait of Governor Dummer which hangs in the Mansion House. Seven Archons have been published this year.

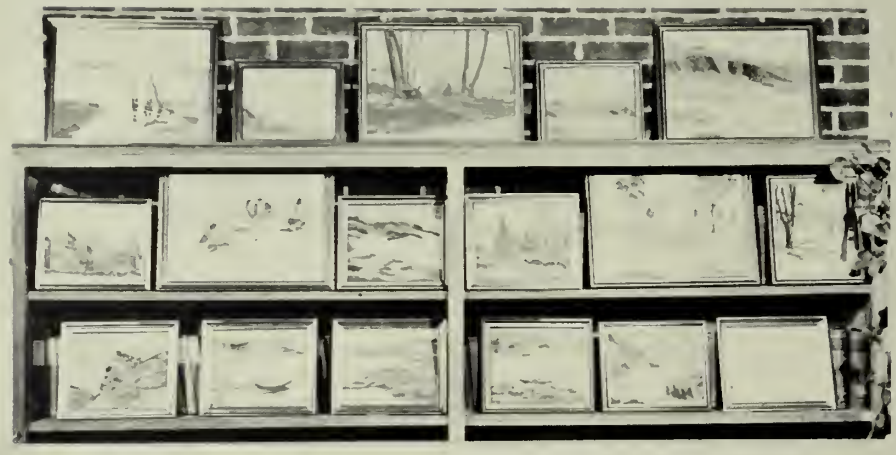
The various events have been grouped, in each issue, and everything has always been included to form an accurate chronicle of the year. There has been no staff photographer, and all the pictures have been contributed by the students, Hugo Poisson, and George Tryon leading. These pictures have attracted very favorable comment, and have been of all subjects, such as action pictures of sports and scenes around the campus.

The editors and the contributors wish to express their appreciation to the student body for their support, which has made the Archon possible; to Mr. Dunning, the Faculty Adviser, who supervised the work; and to all the other friends of the paper.

The Editors



Sketching

The Sketching Class, begun by Mr. Morey Eames, has met with such a great amount of success and popularity with the students that it surely merits attention in the YEARBOOK. Sketching made its appearance in the School this year for the first time. As interest continued to increase during the early part of the year, it was found desirable to organize a formal class in art work. In this way Sketching was introduced into the curriculum as an elective subject. As this came in the form of a break in regular scheduled classes, it caused conflicts which prohibited many boys from enrolling in the class. However, even without the number who were forced to drop out, there were enough to organize two sections. In the fall and in the spring, during good weather, the sketching classes have met out in the open in the vicinity of school, working with both brush and pencil.

In the fall term the greater part of the work was spent in merely drawing, or sketching. Very often the preliminary work was accompanied by movies designed to aid in securing the proper motion and stance of the subject. At the end of the Christmas vacation, color was introduced into the class. At first only a few undertook to work in the new medium of oil colors, but their success influenced the others until three-fourths of the boys had provided themselves with painting sets. A few who expressed a preference for water color and pastels were encouraged to try these color mediums. The historic old Mansion House and the other buildings of the Academy, the picturesque salt marshes bordering the campus, and the rugged New England hills in the surrounding country provide excellent material for the work.

Exhibitions have a valuable place in developing interest in art. There have been two showings in the Noyes Memorial Library of the best drawings of each member of the class, one at Thanksgiving and one after Christmas. In addition there was an exhibition of the first attempts at block printing. A series of exhibitions is being held this spring of the work of artists who are of established merit. Among the more interesting have been those of Aldro T. Hibbard, Frank W. Benson, and Charles H. Woodbury. While Mr. Hibbard's and Mr. Benson's exhibitions were being shown, Mr. Hibbard, a former student of Mr. Benson's was elected to the National Academy. Preceding his exhibition Mr. Woodbury visited the school and made an informal talk to the student body. Mr. Benson generously gave the school three of his etchings during his exhibition.

The Outing Club

The Outing Club has had a very successful, though short year. It has not been able to take as many trips as it would like, because of the fact that most of the other activities and sports take precedence over it, but those that it has taken have been in good weather and have been unusually interesting.

The first trip taken this year was to Pinkham Notch. Randolph Tucker's station wagon started Friday afternoon the 17th of February at 3.30 with Mr. Hogenauer and seven boys. Mr. and Mrs. Brodhead followed, after athletics were over, in Argyle Scott's car. The trip up was uneventful except for a little motor trouble. That night at the Appalachian Mountain Club huts, after watching some amateur movies, everyone went to bed early. The next morning as soon as possible, Tuckerman's Ravine was climbed and lunch was served in about three and a half feet of snow at Hermit Lake. After coming down each one followed his own particular pleasures until supper, after which almost everybody went down to Gorham to a little movie house, which had shows once a week. Late Sunday morning the trip was begun back to school.

The second trip consisted of Mr. Hogenauer and two or three boys, who went back the next week-end to Pinkham Notch in Louis Wyman's car, and repeated the activities of the former trip. The highlight of this trip was reached with the appearance of a deer.

The third trip came on the seventh of May. Tucker's station wagon was again used. Mr. Hogenauer and six boys started at nine o'clock and went up to Mt. Monadnock. While they were there a large forest fire was sighted which covered the whole horizon. Just before reaching Nashua the party caught up with the fire, and after walking about half a mile reached a place on a bridge where the fire could be watched raging on the farther side of a lake. Standing in the middle of the bridge was a reporter soon recognized as Blackington who has given two very interesting talks as Saturday night entertainments. School was finally reached, just in time to get dressed and attend Vesper Service.

At a recent meeting the officers for the school year 1933-34 were elected. They were Harmon Hall, president; Randolph Tucker, vice-president; and Argyle Scott, secretary; succeeding respectively Lyman Belknap, Thomas Willins, and Hugo Poisson. George Tryon was re-elected treasurer. It is hoped by all the members that it will be possible to take at least one more trip this spring.

The Glee Club

This year even more interest has been shown in the Glee Club than in preceding years. Out of the one hundred and twelve boys in the student body, seventy-six tried out for the Club and forty-four were chosen. In order to prevent a cut there has been perhaps a slight sacrifice in the range of the numbers this year, but this more limited selection has offered a greater number of candidates experience in glee club work. The opportunity for securing good voices was so great that this year's Club was far superior to former ones. With better material it progressed rapidly and was able to give a creditable concert at the Football Banquet even though there had been but few group practices.

At the close of the winter holidays the Club really began to prepare for the coming concerts. Before long, ten selections were mastered, and the first formal concert of the winter term was given when the Club went to Salem for a joint appearance with the Salem Civic Orchestra. Later it returned to present an individual concert at the Salem Tabernacle Church, assisted by Mrs. Alden P. White.

On April 29th the first home concert and the first appearance of the Club during the spring term took place. This was for the benefit of the Byfield Parish Church and was held in the Lang Gymnasium. One of the interesting features of this concert was the trio composed of Peter Folger, Olaf Olsen, and Cordis Sargent. Their singing of humorous songs offered a contrast to the more formal singing of the entire Club, which incidentally gave its most finished program of the year. Wendell Sargent's playing of the accordion was another interesting feature of this concert.

The Club made its annual broadcast from Station WCSH, Portland, on May 19th. One of the unique features of this trip was the afternoon rehearsal of the Club in the Eastland Hotel, which gave many of the parents and the friends of the School living in that vicinity an opportunity to hear the Club in person and to see them preparing for an appearance. On May 26th a concert was given in Ipswich, assisted by Mr. Sumner Nichols, director of the Ipswich Players, who gave an interesting program of readings. Returning the visit of the Brooks School Choir earlier in the term, the Club will give a concert at Brooks on June 2nd.

On Commencement Day, June 9th, the last concert of the year will be given in the Lang Gymnasium. As in former years the parents of the students will then be offered a fine opportunity to discover the true merit of such an organization, which is in great part due to the patience and the earnestness with which Mr. Sager directs the Club.

School Dances

On December seventeenth the annual Fall Dance was held in the Lang Gymnasium. The Dance Committee consisted of Louis Sumner, chairman; James S. Smith, Jr., Paul Rutherford, William Bauer, Gilmore Farr, Stephen Ward, and Minot Shaw.

The festivities started with dinner at six-thirty followed by coffee at the Mansion House. At eight dancing commenced in the gymnasium and continued until twelve. Music was furnished by Johnny Devlin's Orchestra of Boston, which proved to be again a success. The decorations were composed of a number of spruce boughs and trees. They were simple, but effective. The dance was run at cost, the profits being returned to those who attended.

The Winter Dance was held on Saturday, March eleventh, and proved to be one of the best ever held at the School. The committee in charge was composed of Jacob Bond, chairman; Chester Ingraham, John Hosmer, Irving Whiting, Cordis Sargent, Dana Douglass, Gilmore Farr, and Nathaniel Sanders.

Jimmy Gahan's Utopians of Belmont provided the music, which was very good. Decorations consisted of a number of travel posters which proved to be very colorful. The floor was surrounded by easy chairs and floor lamps. The result was very pleasant. After dinner had been served at Commons and coffee at the Mansion House, dancing began at eight and continued until midnight.

What is perhaps the largest dance of the year is the one to be given May twenty-seventh. This is the MILESTONE Dance, the proceeds of which are to be used toward the publication of the yearbook. Dinner and coffee will be served in Commons and the Mansion again, but the dance itself will be held at the Ould Newbury Golf Club. It is the present plan to decorate the Club as a trophy room, and to serve refreshments during the evening on the eighth tee, which will be furnished with lights and tables. Jack Marshard's music from Boston will play.

Commencement of 1932

The Milestone Board is this year continuing a custom begun with last year's edition in summarizing briefly the events which took place during the final week of the Commencement Exercises in 1932. It is hoped that this page will make more clear the activities about which the yearbook is centered.

The Baccalaureate Service is always the first of the Commencement Exercises. Last spring it was held at the Adelynrood Chapel on Sunday afternoon, June fifth. The annual address to the graduating class was delivered by the Reverend Leslie Glenn of Christ Church, Cambridge. The Reverend Glenn Tilley Morse of West Newbury, a trustee of the School, also assisted at the service. After the ceremony at Adelynrood there was a reception at the Mansion House.

The Ambrose Prize Speaking Contest, which has become an annual event connected with the graduation exercises, took place in the Lang Gymnasium on the afternoon of Thursday, June ninth. The contest took the form of a reproduction of the League of Nations Council during the Chinese-Manchurian debate. Fourteen representatives were present, from which number, six actually delivered the prize speeches. The latter group consisted of Ernst Krippendorf, Terry Staples, Stanley Levin, Reginald Morrill, John Cushman, and Henry Root.

The Senior Picnic took place on Friday, June third, the week previous to graduation. The whole class with several members of the faculty spent the afternoon on the beach at Plum Island. The first copies of the Milestone were distributed to the Senior Class at the Senior Sing, which was held in the evening of Thursday, June ninth, on the top of Sunset Hill. The presentation of the Milestone to the Honorable Alden P. White, to whom it was dedicated, was made by William Mack, Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook. After the brief ceremony the class marched down to the historic Milestone while singing the Senior Song.

The Graduation Exercises were on Saturday morning. The address was given by Dr. Claude Moore Fuess of Phillips Academy, Andover. Following a very interesting speech by Dr. Fuess, Mr. Eames awarded the prizes. There are many of these which are annual, and last year there were several special prizes. Mr. James Duncan Phillips of the Board of Trustees again closed the exercises by awarding the diplomas, which marked the end of the one hundred and sixty-ninth commencement of Governor Dummer Academy. In the afternoon there was a baseball game, which was followed by the Musical Clubs' concert in the Lang Gymnasium.

The final event of the day was the Alumni Dinner. This was attended by the School, returning alumni, and parents and guests. The toastmaster at the speakers' table was the Reverend Carroll Perry of Ipswich. The speakers were the Honorable Channing Cox, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, and the Reverend Ashley Day Leavitt of Brookline.

The Master's Prize — Shaw Carter

Presented by Mrs. Edward A. Eames to the member of the graduating class who by his unselfishness and sportsmanship has best exemplified the spirit of the school

Special Prizes

To Stanley Forbush McGarry, Jr. whose strong qualities of leadership and loyalty have made him one of the outstanding members of the Senior Class

To Colin Francis Soule for the independence and enthusiasm he has shown in pursuing unusual and worthwhile interests

To Elwood Norton Chase whose cheerful good nature and natural unselfishness have made him one of the best-liked boys in school

To a group of three underclassmen, Everett Black, Nathaniel Sanders, and George Henry Tryon—whose industry and general good spirit have made possible their unusual scholastic improvement and success

To José Beola who has done creditable school work despite having to study in a foreign language, and whose manly qualities have won the admiration of American boys and teachers

To George Norbury Laite who has furnished us all with an example of determination and perseverance

To Frank Arthur Benham for unusual improvement in application to his studies and for being one of the friendliest boys in the school

To Albert Edward Pennock and Marshall Sargent because they are the hardest working managers in the student body

Acknowledgments

The Milestone Board is indebted to those not directly connected with the publication who have shown a sincere willingness to aid in making the yearbook a success. The Board takes this opportunity of expressing its thanks

To Mr. James J. Hessian, who has given the frontispiece of the book

To Mr. Norman Johnson, who has made a great deal of effort to secure a group of night photographs

To Mr. Harold Johnson, who has aided us in an endeavor to improve the physical appearance of the book

To George H. Tryon '34, who has shown generosity and ability in making snapshots of school life

And to the Underclassmen, who have done their part in helping the Seniors in the publication of the yearbook.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

The Story of All Things Living

H. G. WELLS in collaboration with JULIAN S. HUXLEY and G. P. WELLS

OF all the thrilling non-fiction narratives ever written, few, if any equal this distinguished informative, pulsating story of all living things. For centuries the world's most brilliant scientists, historians and philosophers have struggled for more and more knowledge. And now, their great discoveries on the enchanted story of Life are vividly unfolded—as only the fire and scintillance of Wells can unfold them—in a way all will enjoy and understand, the riddles of this whole romantic story that has puzzled most of the world's people.

By the light of science, you see in one colorful parade, LIFE—in the water, on land, in the air. You are brought the entire record of the great march of events that produced insects, fish, reptiles, flowers, fowl, mountains, forests, beasts, mammals, the races of mankind!

There are 1548 pages in all, profusely illustrated with 337 drawings, charts and diagrams. 64 photographic reproductions in black and white from old and new original sources, and four frontispieces in FULL color amplify the more than 600,000 words of text in the 4 volume set.

The publishers will be pleased to send a descriptive circular and complete information on request.

DOUBLEDAY'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

DOUBLEDAY'S has been called a "New Kind of Encyclopedia" because it approaches the world's knowledge in a new way. Its purpose is to make knowledge news—as fascinating as the news presented in your daily paper. The best description of its style might be Anatole France's remark, "It is only by amusing oneself that one can learn. The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of the mind for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards; and curiosity itself can be vivid and wholesome only in proportion as the mind is contented and happy . . . In order that knowledge be properly digested, it must have been swallowed with good appetite."

These words sum up the belief of the best modern educators. DOUBLEDAY'S ENCYCLOPEDIA is as readable as human ingenuity can make it. It presents in clear, graphic and authoritative fashion things the modern man or woman needs to know. It represents education, brought to you in the most easily assimilated form imaginable. It gives you the world's essential knowledge in a form you will enjoy reading.

To make this new work complete as well as fascinating, great specialists were called upon—authorities such as Herbert Hoover, John Galsworthy, Elihu Root, Henry Ford, J. Arthur Thomson, Sir Oliver Lodge, William Beebe, Edward A. Filene, Irving T. Bush, etc.

To make each page attractive and each fact clear, the picture collections of the entire world were combed for their photographic treasures.

The result is an achievement which sparkles with a new freshness—a freshness which cannot justly be described in this announcement. To enable you to get the full import of this entirely new viewpoint in the preparation of an encyclopedia, the publishers would like to send you (of course, without cost or obligation) an interesting booklet of sample pages describing the ten attractive and durably bound volumes containing 10,000 illustrations, most of them halftones made from actual photographs, and full-color plates. 28,000 separate articles. 5,700,000 words. 277 maps.

Privately Printed

The 1933 Milestone is a fine example of a limited edition, privately printed.

The staff of this book and an increasing number of other private publishers have been turning to organizations which specialize in the production of fine brochures, magazines, and privately printed books. For more than a century The Andover Press has served such publishers, planning and printing class annuals, descriptive booklets, genealogies, and other quality publications.
